

Pasadena City College
2002-2003 Institutional Strategic Directions and Annual Goals

Recognizing that its primary mission is to ensure student success and learning, Pasadena City College adopts the following strategic directions and annual goals:

Strategic Direction VII: Over the next 3-5 years, Pasadena City College, as a learning-centered institution, will improve communication among the college community and the communities it serves.

Annual Goals:

- 02-21. The Office of Instruction, Office of Student and Learning Services, Division Deans and faculty will conduct activities on and off campus to strengthen connections with secondary schools, colleges and the community.
- 02-22. The Institutional Planning and Research Office will, with appropriate faculty, staff and student input, guide the development of an environmental scanning process.
- 02-23. The Office of Instruction and Student and Learning Services together with the campus technology units will study the feasibility of creating an electronic process which will enable focused communication to occur with the goal of eliminating or reducing the need for face-to-face meetings.
