

English 901: Writing Center Lab

Room: C341

.3 unit / Total of 18 hours laboratory

Pass / No Pass grading

Corequisite

To be enrolled in this course, you must be concurrently enrolled in English 100.

Course Description

English 901 is a course in the development of writing skills for students in English 100. The course includes individualized instruction with Writing Center instructors and writing consultants, as well as computer-assisted instruction.

Course Content

Course curriculum is divided into two categories: required and optional. Required curriculum includes My Writing Lab lessons and one-on-one instruction; optional curriculum includes these two activities and adds library lessons, online research, and writing for your English 100 course.

The optional curriculum puts you in control of your own learning as you develop a plan for study that suits your needs and interests. Here's a description of the various activities:

1. Computer-assisted grammar, reading, and writing lessons, using Pearson/Longman's My Writing Lab
 - You will develop a plan for study after completing a four-part diagnostic. Your plan fits your individual needs.
2. One-on-one instruction with instructors or writing consultants
 - Work with an instructor or consultant on assignments from your English 100 class. Instructors and consultants can help you at any stage of the writing process. Bring your instructor's assignment, your preliminary notes or first drafts, or graded work you are revising to resubmit to your 100 instructor.
3. Online library lessons in information literacy, including the Mini-Research Project
4. Online research in Shatford Library's electronic databases or on the Web, with the assistance of Center staff
5. Planning, drafting, and revising assignments from your English 100 class, with the assistance of Center staff

Grading

English 901 is a pass/no pass course; you will receive either Credit or No Credit.

- To receive Credit, you must complete the required number of activities listed on your Study Plan (12 for Monday-through-Friday students, 11 for Saturday students) and not miss class more than two times.
- If you miss class more than twice or do not complete your Study Plan, you will receive No Credit.
- Your English 100 instructor will determine whether and how your performance, attendance, or grade in English 901 affects your grade in English 100.

Grading (cont.)

At the end of the semester, you should provide the Writing Center staff with a copy of your Assignment Sheet (both sides). These sheets are used along with the record of your scans—in and out of the lab—to help determine your grade.

Required Materials

None

Attendance

You are expected to attend every class meeting and are required to be in the lab for 45 minutes of your scheduled hour. You can be absent twice without penalty. Attendance is recorded in two ways: an electronic scan of your PCC Lancer ID card and a time/date stamp on your Assignment Sheet. Your arrival and departure are recorded, so do not leave the lab without checking out.

To be admitted to the lab during your scheduled hour, you must have with you:

- Your Lancer student ID card
- Your current course schedule (you can print this from the PCC website)
- Your English 901 assignment sheet (given to you at your first class meeting)

Beginning the third week of the semester, if you show up without all three of these items, you will not be allowed into the lab.

Additionally, you must check-in to the lab no more than 15 minutes after the scheduled start time. If you arrive more than fifteen minutes late, you will be considered absent. Remember that missing class more than two times will result in your receiving No Credit for the course, and absences may not be made-up.

Course Withdrawal

As long as you remain enrolled in your English 100 class, you will remain enrolled in English 901. You will not be dropped from English 901 for failure to attend or perform. Thus, if you choose to drop your English 100 class, you are responsible for also dropping your English 901 class. Failure to do so might result in your receiving No Credit for the course.

Important Lab Policies

- Lab Use: To get credit for English 901, you must attend during your scheduled hour. While you may meet with Instructors or Writing Consultants on a walk-in basis, you may not use the computer lab outside of your scheduled hour.
- Student Conduct: PCC seeks to maintain a safe, orderly, and constructive campus environment in which there is freedom to learn and respect for the dignity of all members of the College community. Inappropriate conduct by students is subject to discipline.
- Cell Phones: All cell phones, text messagers, and other electronic devices should be turned off and placed out of sight while you are in the lab.
- Food and Drink: Eating and drinking are not allowed in the lab; this includes drinking bottled water. Keep any food and drink in your bag and away from the computer workstations.
- Visitors: Only students registered in the Writing Center lab course may attend the lab. Non-registered students, including children, are not allowed in the lab.
