THE 2007-2008 SPECIAL RECOGNITION AWARDS

Each spring, the Pasadena City College Special Recognition committee carries out the important work of determining the recipients of the annual Campus Special Recognition and Community Special Recognition Awards. The committee's membership includes student, faculty, staff, and administration representatives. The Special Recognition Awards are bestowed on individuals and organizations in recognition of extraordinary and exemplary service rendered to the college. This year, the college will honor one organization for the Community Special Recognition Award and two individuals for the Campus Special Recognition Award.

The 2008 Community Special Recognition Award goes to Huntington Memorial Hospital. Huntington Memorial Hospital has supported the Health Science programs at Pasadena City College for more than 40 years and assisted in transforming PCC into a better institution.

Huntington Memorial Hospital has supported student success by providing uniforms, books, and training, as well as providing scholarships for deserving Pasadena City College Health Science students. The Hospital has been a partner to Pasadena City College and provided mentoring and employment opportunities to the nursing students at the college.

The 2008 Campus Special Recognition Award goes to Ms. Susanna Miele. As a friend to Pasadena City College, Ms. Miele has given more than 24 years to transforming PCC into a better institution. Her outstanding service to the Pasadena community as an advocate for women's issues and child development through local organizations and city commissions has brought these important issues the attention they richly deserve. Through her unyielding support of the District's Measure P campaign, she has assured students the resources needed to succeed.

The PCC Child Development Center was created through Ms. Miele's dedication and her vision for better opportunities for students and the community. Her friendly demeanor and professionalism has served to bring PCC and community members together in constructive communication and partnership. Through her tireless efforts in support of student success as a Board of Trustee member at PCC, Ms. Miele has served as a model to her peers across the state of California.

The 2008 Campus Special Recognition Award goes to Ms. Kathryn Dabelow. Ms. Dabelow, as a friend to Pasadena City College, has given more than 41 years to transforming PCC into a better institution. Her leadership as president of the PCC Academic Senate has served as a barometer of wisdom to the association and the college. Ms. Dabelow's vision also spearheaded the creation of the women's studies program at PCC and the creation of the Women in American Society field of study.

Ms. Dabelow's unsurpassed commitment to student enrichment and diversity was recognized with the Ralph Story Service Award in 1989. Through her tireless efforts in support of student success as a distinguished educator and leader, she has served as a model to her peers at PCC and across the state of California.

Join us in congratulating this year's Campus and Community Special Recognition recipients.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

One of the most colorful parts of the commencement exercise is the academic procession—the opening part of the time-honored and traditional ceremonies. The processional includes all of the participants of the exercises, the graduating class, faculty, Board of Trustees, and participating guests.

The graduating class wears a solid blue gown. All graduates wear a stole. However, graduates wearing a gold stole are permanent members of Alpha Gamma Sigma, a statewide honor society, or are receiving Administrative Honors requiring a grade point average of at least 3.67. The tassel of the cap is worn on the right and changed to the left immediately after receiving recognition.

The college's faculty, which includes its instructors, counselors, and administrative staff, along with the staff, trustees, and guests, wear gowns indicative of their academic rank. This part of the processional is indeed one of the most awe-inspiring of all collegiate ceremonies.

The heritage of the cap and gown, with the colorful spectacle of the academic array, dates back to the twelfth century and the establishment of the first universities in Europe. Although there have been many changes in design and color, each individual gown, with its rank, is symbolic of achievement in a special field.

The Continental System, still used by England and the rest of Europe, allows a distinctive design and color for each college and university. In the United States, however, a uniform Intercollegiate Academic Code has been adopted. The code is a simple one, regulating the colors and materials to be used. Knowledge of a few of these rules permits the viewer to "read" the costume of any graduate of an American educational institution and know at once the wearer's degree, the field or department in which it was earned, and possibly the college from which the degree was received.

Academic gowns are divided into three groups, dependent upon the highest college degree earned by the wearer. The bachelor's gown is made of a black, worsted material with long, pointed sleeves, and the front is closed at the neck. The master's gown is either of black silk or wool and has a long, closed sleeve with an arc of a circle appearing near the bottom and a slit, at elbow length, for the arm. The gown is worn open at the front. The doctorate gown is black silk with full, round, open sleeves. The color of the velvet is usually black, but it may be of the same color of velvet as that which edges the hood. This gown is also worn open at the front.

The traditional black mortarboard-style cap is worn for all degrees, the only difference being the tassel. For bachelors and masters it is usually black, but occasionally it is the color of the velvet on the hood. The doctorate tassel is gold.

The academic costume is set off by the most distinctive of all insignia, the hood. The hood is made of a black material to match the gown and varies in length according to the degree: bachelor, three feet; master, three and one-half feet; and doctorate, four feet. Each hood has a velvet edge of varying widths according to the degree: two inches, three inches, and five inches, respectively. The edging is carried around to the front of the neck to form a neck band. The color of this velvet trim indicates the field or department of learning in which the degree was earned. All hoods have silk lining of the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

Following is a partial list of the colors that have been designated to represent the various areas of learning:

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Special Thanks to

Dr. Lawrence Jerome McGill and Ms. S. Chrystal Watson,
Performing and Communication Arts Division, for announcing the names of the participating graduates

Mr. Tracy Cave and Ms. Ethel Battles, Disabled Student Programs and Services, for sign language interpreting services

Mrs. Bonnie Shimasaki, Academic Support, for the floral arrangements

Ms. Siria LoVett, Student Affairs, for coordinating the preparations for Commencement

Our team of student, staff, faculty, and management volunteers for assisting the organizers, participants, and guests

Photographs

For the convenience of the graduates, we are providing a professional photography service and the New Media Center is producing DVD's of the ceremony.
We request that flash photography and lighted video recording not occur during the program.

Flowers

The flowers are provided by the Associated Students of Pasadena City College.

Reception

The reception is hosted by the Associated Students of Pasadena City College.

Production

The following departments assist the Office of Student Affairs in the preparations for Commencement:

Academic Senate	Facilities Services	Police and Safety Services
Admissions and Records	I-8	Publications Office
Classified Senate	New Media Center	Public Relations
Disabled Student Programs and Services	Office Services	Purchasing Services
Electronic Maintenance	Performing and Communication Arts Division	Staging Services
		Student Business Services

Receipt of the Degree or Diploma for those listed as Spring 2008 graduates is contingent upon completion of applicable requirements.
